SMALL DESIGN COMPANY RECEIVES BIG ACCOLADE
It's Not the Size That Counts When Creating Award-Winning Websites.

Orange County, California based JV Media Design recently received a Gold Davey Award for the development of the University of California, Irvine's Department of Music website, proving that small design companies truly can create high-end, large websites just like the top creative firms.

"We're not interested in competing with large firms so much as we are interested in providing our clients with the highest quality of design, creativity, and service that we can", said Sherry Holub, Creative Director. "We were honored by the award as it validates all of the hard work we put into each project."

"The Davey Awards honors outstanding creative from the best small agencies and companies worldwide. David defeated the mighty Goliath with a big idea and a little rock. That is the sort of thing small firms do every day. The Davey Awards honors the achievement of the "creative David's" where strength comes from ideas, intelligence and out-of-the-box thinking, not a "Giant's" bankroll." (www.iavisarts.org)

The prestigious awards program is sanctioned by the IAVA (International Academy of the Visual Arts).
